BALKAN AFFAIRS.

THE GREEK DEMANDS.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received July 16.
Replying to the Russian representations, Greece states that she will only agree to a cessation of hostilities when Bulgaria consents on the battlefield to abandon all territories occupied by the Allies, to pay an indemnity towards the expenditure caused by the war and the damage created in the burned towns and villages, to guarantee life, property, and religious freedom to the Greeks in Thrace, and to demobilise within a fixed period.

Premiers Meet.
M. Venizelos, Greek Premier, has gone to Nish (Serbia) to confer with M. Pasic, Serbian Premier.

Bulgarian Cabinet Resigns.
The "Times" correspondent at Sofia states that Dr. Danef and his Cabinet have resigned.

Russia's Suggestion.
Russia has been pressing Bulgaria to surrender her claim to large tracts of land on the West bank of the Vardar, besides the whole of Eastern Macedonia. These terms exceed the limits of the Greek pretensions hitherto.

Albania's Future.

Later.
Reuter is informed that the Ambassadors conference endorsed Sir Edward Grey's principle of non-intervention and decided upon the formation of a gendarmerie in Albania under foreign officers, probably Swedes. Albania is to be independent under a prince. The questions connected with the Epirus frontier are still unsettled.

Greeks Occupy Nevrokop.

Reuter's correspondent at Salonika reports that the Greeks have occupied Nevrokop.

Later.
Reuter's correspondent at Belgrade states that M. Pasic and M. Venizelos have met at the station at Uskub and have found that their views are unanimous.

IMPERIAL WIRELESS.

MOTION TALKED OUT.

London, Received July 17.
In the House of Commons, the Hon. Mr. Walter Guinness moved the adjournment of the House with a view to urging the opening of the Imperial wireless contract to public competition.
The Right Hon. Mr. Samuel Postmaster General, maintained that the Marconi Company was the only Company capable of carrying out the work. He was responsible not merely to this country, but to the Governments of India, Egypt and South Africa. He urged on the House that the scheme was essential to the strategic interests of the Empire and should no longer be made the shuttlecock of party politics.
Amid Opposition protests and Ministerial cheers, the motion was talked out.

TYPHOON WARNING

The following telegram was received by the American Consulate General, Hongkong from the Manila Observatory at 10.45 a.m. today:
Manila, July 17, 9 a.m.—
Cyclone or typhoon, E. Balintacan Channel, moving N. or N.N.E.

NORTH BORNEO RUBBER

A HOPEFUL OUTLOOK.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received July 17.
Sir West Ridgeway, presiding at a meeting of the North Borneo Company, said that the prospects of the territory were excellent, and the revenue was increasing by leaps and bounds. Arrangements had been made for immigration from Northern China, and 250 families would shortly be conveyed to North Borneo. Experts were of the opinion that rubber would be on the upward grade before long. The demand all over the world was increasing and North Borneo rubber was of the best quality and realised the best prices in the market. The company had decided to reconstruct the whole of the railway, making it strong and durable.

NATIONAL INSURANCE.

AMENDING THE ACT.

London, Received July 16.
The Insurance Amendment Bill has passed its second reading.

CHICAGO'S MORALS COURT.

In view of the menace of an increasing White Slave Traffic, Chicago's experiment of a "Morals Court" will be followed with keen interest by humanitarians and social reformers all over the world. This court is to deal with "all cases that have to do with violations of the city ordinances regarding the social evil," and its special object is "to deal mercifully and helpfully with girls gone wrong." Its methods are to be "as scientific and humane as the average police-court methods are clumsy and brutal"; women are to be spared as far as possible the shame of public exposure, and women probation officers and physicians are attached to the court. American journals are loud in their commendation of this venture which, if it prove even a moderate success, will be the pioneer of similar movements all over the world. One paper, however, the "New World," a Catholic newspaper, published in Chicago, is more than doubtful of the soundness of this experiment, and its strictures are worth quoting:
"It is all very well to say that the court is intended to 'give every one a chance'; to afford those who have fallen from the path of virtue another opportunity with a change in life, but this is scarcely to be obtained by blazoning to the world the names and the sins of the fallen or degraded, with pictures of the court flanked by sanctimonious individuals performing the work of moral regeneration. According to one of the printed accounts, a young girl who had been before the court for wayward conduct was 'sentenced' to be sent home, but the victim of the moral-court proceedings replied that the publicity given to her case by the activities of the sociologist reformers, the proceedings of the court and the newspapers, made it impossible for her ever to enter her home again or rejoin the family. Is not this a case of the cure being worse than the disease? Are we not entering upon an era of too many public nostrums, too many quack 'reform' doctrines, too much smug notoriety-seeking and high-falutin in the administration of the law?"

These criticisms might be applied with advantage to that section of our community that believes in dealing with all social problems through the agency of inspectors retained to visit the homes of the poor and report upon them.

CHINESE QUESTIONS.

"TIMES" SPEAKS OUT.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received July 17.
The "Times" publishes prominently an article directing attention to the simultaneous proposals to divert £250,000 of the Boxer indemnity to a British university for Central China and for the destruction or re-shipping to India of the stocks of opium accumulated at Hongkong and the Treaty Ports.

Unbalanced Sentimentalism.
The writer says of the anti-opium crusade that Britain has suffered from an unbalanced sentimentalism such as the Chinese Government has always been prompt to exploit for purposes which have nothing sentimental about them. He hopes that the question of the Boxer indemnity is not destined similarly to become a subject for the activities of benevolent missionaries and he points out that the British indemnity was most carefully computed as compensation for losses. Moreover, the British taxpayer would have to pay any remission.

GAMBLING ON THE LINKS.

Confessions of London Golfers.

Are golfers in the South of England becoming inveterate gamblers?
It is alleged that the Royal and Ancient Game as played around London is becoming as bad as prize-fighting; that players ("amateurs" of course) will not play except for money; that matches are sometimes made with stakes as high as £20; and that a £5 stake is common. These charges have been hurled at the game by a northern provincial newspaper, which also asserts that golf gambling has spread to women and even girl members of Southern clubs to an extent that threatens a scandal in one well-known club.
The principal Southern clubs are, of course, Sunningdale and Walton Heath. Both are frequented by London's wealthiest players—stockbrokers, lawyers, merchants—to whom the loss or gain of a £5 note is not of vital importance at the end of the week.
"A certain number of matches are played for stakes—high stakes sometimes—but that is when there is a challenge"; so a Walton Heath member confessed to the "Daily News" representative. "These matches are not fixed up on the first tee. The usual thing is to play for a ball—which means that the loser loses a half-crown."
"After all," he pleaded, "human nature is only human nature, and if two men go out, after an excellent lunch, full of confidence in their own game, you cannot prevent them backing themselves, even though it may be for a £5 note. That is between friends. There is no question of waiting for a stranger or visitor to come along and asking him to play for a stake."

Spilling the Game.
"Personally," added this candid player, "I think that gambling is spoiling the game of golf, but I have no objection to playing for a ball when I am matched against a man I know."
Altogether the opinions of a dozen London golfers were obtained by the "Daily News" investigator, and every man of the dozen pleaded guilty to a weakness for playing for a ball on the ground that "small stakes makes the game much more interesting."

THE ROYAL MATCH.

KING GEORGE'S APPROVAL.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received July 16.
The King, on his return from Lancashire, was informed of the proposed match between Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Duchess of Fife, and telephoned to the Duke of Connaught and Prince Arthur at Baginboto. Both came to London on Tuesday morning, when the match was approved.
The newspaper pays a tribute to Prince Arthur's abilities as a soldier, diplomat, and sportsman—a worthy son of a worthy father—and to the winning qualities of the bride, who hitherto led a retired life. They dilate on her culture, her fondness for outdoor sports, and say she personally resembles Queen Alexandra.

It seems that, in their view, as the stake grows in value so interest in the game is heightened. Usually, also, the loser of the match wishes to go "double or quits" on the "bye."

A Woman's Reply.

"Women are much less given to gambling on their golf than men," the secretary of a ladies' club near London said when appealed to.
"There are comparatively few good lady players. The rest are keen on hitting the ball and sixpence a hole would be a lot of money for them to play for. Men think nothing of playing for 5s. or even 10s. a hole."
Another charge made against the game is that the worship of the professional has crept into it and that it costs 25 to play a round with one of the great experts on a "smart course."

Fixed Charges.

The answer to this is that every professional has a standing charge for teaching and for playing a game over a course, and that these charges are strictly adhered to by all club committees. If, however, a purse-proud millionaire challenges a champion or ex-champion and desires to make the stake 25 or £10 there is no power on earth to prevent the professional accepting the challenge and usually winning the bet.

But that is not the fault of the professional golfer, who is, as a rule a good sportsman and a good business man.

GENERAL ANDERSON'S SUCCESSOR.

"Truth" of June 18 has the following:—

Major-General F. H. Kelly, late of the Royal Engineers, left England for Hongkong last week to command the troops at that station in place of Maj.-General Anderson, who has been transferred to the Meerut Division of the Northern Army of India, General Picher having gone on to Burma. General Kelly is not new to the East, for he has put in nearly all his service in India, where he has seen a good deal of frontier fighting, having been in the Burmese, Mohmand, Triani, and Waziristan expeditions. His last appointment was the command of the Ahmednagar Brigade, which he held from 1907 to 1911, when he went on half-pay, after getting his promotion to major-general in 1909. Being only in his fifty-fourth year of age, and having eight years to run before coming under Clause 522 of the Royal Warrant, he stands well up on the list for promotion to lieutenant-general.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received July 17.

Somersetshire beat Derbyshire at Derby by 59 runs.
Sussex drew with Northamptonshire at Northampton.
Kent secured a pointless draw with Worcestershire at Tunbridge Wells.

LEEDS TRAINING COLLEGE EXPERIMENT.

Mr. Pease, President of the Board of Education, has formally opened the new City of Leeds Training College, which has been erected at Headingley for the training of men and women who intend to become teachers in public elementary schools. The new college is admittedly an experiment, and one which is being watched with interest by other and less bold education authorities.

The main buildings consist of a college and eight hostels. The college, in which all the teaching work is done, occupies the centre, three men's hostels and five women's flanking it east and west. Beyond, at the back and sides, are houses for Principal and Vice-Principal, laundry, swimming bath, games, pavilions, and lodges. Each hostel houses 80 students, and there are no vacant places, although the college has been at work barely a year.

The Leeds authorities seek something more than a bare technical training, efficient though this may be. They aim at training character, and hope to turn into the stream of the school system a new type of elementary teacher, not only technically able, but strong in body and clean in mind—a sane guiding force for the children of the people. In their treatment of the students, men and women alike, the college authorities are attempting to create the atmosphere of a residential college at Oxford or Cambridge.

Life of the College.
The students learn responsibility in the management of their many literary, debating, scientific, and musical societies, and while ever ready to give help and advice, the staff does not interfere with them. Athletics, though no fetish, are strongly encouraged and well provided for, and the response both from men and women is notable. Nearness to the county-side gives an excellent opportunity for nature study, and the societies encouraging "scientific" rambles are keenly supported. In the social life there is no rigid separation of the sexes, but while a certain amount of joint entertainment and recreation goes on, men and women as a rule keep fairly well to their own devices. The usual age for joining is 18, and the course a two-year one.

In these conditions it might be imagined that religious and propaganda difficulties would crop up. So far no religious difficulty has arisen. In the student societies discussion is free and unfettered, but the antidote of a clean, healthy, and vigorous life seems to breed a wholesome contempt for "isms" of any kind. In any place like this Leeds College the individual influence of the directing staff must necessarily be an all-important factor. The Leeds authorities have wisely and courageously given their Principal (a man) and their Vice-Principal (a woman) sole educational control, with their Director of Education, Mr. Graham, as adviser. The business side of the college is under the control of the Director, each hostel being a financial unit, for which the matron is responsible.

MRS CORNWALLIS-WEST.

REVERTS TO FORMER TITLE.

Reuter's
[Service to the "Telegraph."]
London, Received July 10.
It is announced that in future Mr. Cornwallis West, who has secured a divorce from her husband, will revert to her former title—Lady Randolph Churchill.

Short as is the time the Leeds College has been at work, the new student is better equipped in every way than the old. It is a happy omen that educational authorities recognize the change. Leeds students are being asked for over and over again, and Continental visitors as well as English are coming in increasing numbers to examine this, the latest experiment in educational science.

A TALE OF TWO TRAVELLERS.

A Trip to Annam and Cambodia as Told by Themselves.

In these cloisters are collected a vast number of statues both of Brahman and Buddhist cult. The majority being Buddhist, they are not of great artistic value, but the features of all vary so that one cannot help thinking that they are likenesses of some of the great men who lived here and were venerated after their decease. The features are all of the Indian type. They are of lime stone except two which are of wood one of which represents a kneeling Bonze and is of decided artistic worth. There are a considerable number of bas reliefs also in this corridor, but not of a historic nature being mostly of dancing girls interspersed with Gods and Goddesses. The wall is pierced with a number of windows having curious balustrades like bars of stone in them. This stage forms a quadrangle in the centre of which and distant some 30 yards in the massive central block or Holy of Holies. This building is 75 metres on each face. There are 22 staircases, one jutting out at the centre of each face and one at each side of the corners. They rise to a height of 13 metres. The steps are very steep and can only be climbed with difficulty. The reason for this peculiar construction is difficult to comprehend, unless it was made so that the devout should mount on their knees from one step to the next and so on, or it may have been done for purely artistic effect. The staircase on the west side is finer and projects further out into the quadrangle, thus giving room at its summit for a larger and more highly decorated porch and vestibule. There are porches at the head of each of the stairs, those at the angles opening into a square vestibule situated immediately under the corner towers. The building at the top of the grand staircase forms a square each side 60 metres in length. It consists of a cloister on the periphery, with an outside verandah and passages crossing the centre at right angles from the middle of each face thus forming 4 small courts. A massive tower rises up at the very centre of this building. The summit of this tower is 55 metres from the level of the paved roadway. Fortunately this tower as well as the four corner vestibules are in perfect preservation.

KUPPER BEER.

A really good German Beer is very light and healthy compared with the average English Beer particularly IN A HOT CLIMATE. This is due to the low temperature maintained during the earlier opera-that give the effervescent "creaminess" characteristic of good Lager Beers.

China Mail.

The Disputes of the Balkan Allies.
Fast and furious became the scramble among Serbs, Bulgars, and Greeks for Turkey's conquered province in Europe. They certainly, as the Roman historian says, have made a desert and a howling waste of city and valley, but they can not, like the Roman conquerors, call it peace. Turkey is conquered and the Balkan League automatically dissolves,
but who is to divide the spoil?
Austria has her demands with regard to the northern part of Albania and Greece claims a slice of the southern section of the same province.
Even Italy came into the quarrel and maintained that as she occupied some of the islands of the Levant during her Tripoli campaign, and Greece must not lay a finger on them. In the original formation of Balkan Alliance, Russia was appointed to be arbiter or umpire in case of misunderstanding. The European press are asking whether the Teuton disputant, Austria, backed by Germany, will permit the intervention of Russia, as the lion who is to award to each a share of the booty?

South China Morning Post.

The Companies Ordinance.

It is most essential, too, that shareholders should also be able to know precisely what the financial position of a company really is, and the amending Bill, we are pleased to note, makes provision for this as well as for the maintenance by each company of an adequate number of "business" books. The question of the integrity of the audit is also tackled in the amending Ordinance, section 16, providing for some definite check upon the appointment and capacity of auditors. It is not necessary to be an auditor oneself to be able to pass judgment upon the qualifications of an auditor, and we have every confidence that the Government will see that officials holding the Affairs in China.

Russia's threatened military intervention was, however, for the settlement of the other questions, and she had, in fact, declined to discuss the Mongolian question until the Taisihar and other incidents had been settled to her satisfaction. This has now been done, and the Mongolian question is not likely to be left unsettled much longer, for, while Peking has been marking time, conditions in Mongolia are said to have been growing steadily worse, and the sensation of the moment is the killing of an Englishman by Mongols and the suspected capture by them of a small European party which had set out to search for the unfortunate man who was missing and has since been ascertained to have been killed. On the top of these troubles Yuan Shih Kai appears now to be confronted by serious disaffection among the Southern troops. For many weeks past the President has been drafting Northern troops into the more Southern provinces, and apparently this is being made the excuse for the "second revolution" which has been talked about for some time in revolutionary circles.
There is definite news of the Southern troops revolting in two provinces—Kiangsi and Kiangnan —and rumours of similar happenings in Hunan. The information yet hand on the subject is too meagre to form an opinion as to the extent and strength of this movement, but bearing in mind recent events at Wuchang, it is evident that a grave situation has developed.

New Treatment For Dysentery.

It is interesting to note, says the Borneo "Herald," that Dr. Holden of the Sillimpo, on Coal Mines, is using emetine injections for dysentery and has had great success. There seems no doubt as to the value of this treatment.

Singapore Ordinances Not Disallowed.

The Secretary of State for the Colonies has notified that the King will not be advised to exercise his power of disallowance with respect to the following Ordinances:—An Ordinance to amend The Traction Engines and Motor Cars Ordinance 1911, an Ordinance to repeal Indian Act XX of 1847, an Ordinance for the Incorporation of the Chief Secretary to Government Federated Malay States, an Ordinance to amend The Betting Ordinance 1912, and an Ordinance to provide for the prevention of Infectious Diseases.

Proposed Volunteer Infantry for Singapore.

About sixty men attended the meeting held in the Drill Hall at Singapore on July 7, to discuss the formation of an infantry company of volunteers. The majority of those present were members of already existing units. Some discussion took place and the proposal to form a purely Scottish company with Highland dress was raised. Opinion was divided and the meeting terminated with the understanding that the unofficial promoters of the scheme would convene another public meeting, which it was hoped would be more representative of the unattached members of the community, at a later date.

The Tropical Agricultural College. The movement in favour of founding an Imperial College for the study of Tropical Agriculture has been advanced an important step by the appointment of a London committee, under the auspices of the Ceylon Board of Agriculture, and by a resolution adopted by the Ceylon Association urging the claims of the Peradeniya Gardens, near Kandy as the best site for the purpose. Amongst those who have joined the committee are Viscount Milner, Lord Cranworth, Lord Elphinstone, Sir Henry Blake, Sir Henry McCallum, Sir Frank Swettenham, Professor Wyndham Dunstan, Messrs. Noel Trotter, J. L. Shand, John Turner, John Ferguson, William Skinner, and W. K. Rutherford.

Opium!

The "London and China Express" of June 20 remarks:—Judging from recent mail news the eradication of the opium evil in China is not quite the easy matter that some optimistic people in this country appear to think. In some districts it has been necessary to employ the troops to uproot the poppy plants where they are being grown in violation of the law. Serious resistance has been offered by the owners of the poppy fields, and in several instances pitched battles have been fought between the troops and the planters. Over six hundred peasants and their supporters, it is alleged, have been killed in these guerrilla engagements. It is satisfactory, however, to note the determination of the Chinese authorities to suppress the drug, despite all opposition.

The Fez.

During recent years the Turkish fez has become a much more popular head-gear than it used to be among the followers of Islam in India. The increase in the demand suggested to an Urdu journal some months ago the establishment of a factory in India with a view to turning out this headgear on a large scale. In the meantime, however, there is a factory near Constantinople which offers to meet the demand upon easy terms. The agent for India and America, who seems to have solved the age-long problem of how to combine philanthropy with business, offers to supply these caps to India, and to pay the freight upon them, leaving only the duty to be paid by the importer. In addition to this he is willing to pay half the expenses of cabling if the orders are sent by cable, and he is also ready to bear half the expenses of advertisement. It is satisfactory to note that, despite her misfortunes, Turkey is not entirely without business enterprise.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[The opinions expressed by our correspondents are not necessarily those of the "Hongkong Telegraph"]

To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph."

THE EDUCATION BILL.

Sir,—Your correspondent, Mr. Bowley, is inclined to blame the Government for its latest Bills. It is evident that the Government is concealing something. No-one seems to know why such drastic legislation has become necessary. If the Government would only give reasons to justify its seeking of such powers, probably no-one would offer objections—at least to the principle of the Education Bill.

But Mr. Bowley is justified in objecting to the Government's method of carrying out its principles.

It will be fatal to education here to invest a Registrar of Schools with such autocratic power, if the official to be appointed is one who knows nothing of schools and school matters.

Why not have an Education Board consisting of men who are familiar with Education both in theory and in practice?

If a properly constituted Education Board were endowed with these powers proposed to be invested in a Registrar of Schools, doubtless no-one would offer any objection.

It is admitted that the Government must have some control over the schools which it helps with a grant of money. At present the Government has no control over such schools, beyond the fixing of the amount of the Grant-in-Aid. The consequence is, that, even in Grant Schools, irregularities and abuses are permitted to exist, the Government having at present no power to interfere.

Schools built with Government money are a perpetual drain on the funds of the Colony. Many of them have only half their full complement of scholars, for there are other schools, which, by charging lower fees, draw the scholars from the Government schools. How is it that other schools are enabled to charge a low fee? Firstly because the schoolmasters in these other schools are shamefully under-paid; and, secondly, because in some cases our benevolent Government gives these schools a substantial grant to assist them to continue the good work.

Mr. Bowley is doing good work in pleading for the Liberty of the Subject. There are schools here staffed by educated Englishmen, brought from Home for a "salary" which they find, on arriving, not a living wage, and who at the end of their term are forbidden by their agreement to earn their bread at their own profession within 1,000 miles of Hongkong. Yet their passage is not paid home. Is this liberty of the British Subject?

If it is to remove such injustice that the Government is legislating, then let the Education Bill be passed at any cost.

Better the control of an autocrat than no control at all.

Yours,

HOPEFUL.

A QUESTION OF QUALIFICATIONS.

To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph."

Sir,—This is a quotation from a letter which appeared in your columns yesterday:—"There is no indication as to the qualifications required for inclusion in this list, nor it necessary that the Registrar of Companies should have any qualifications for exercising his discretion in depriving an auditor of his right to earn his daily bread."

I must confess I was mightily amused upon reading this.

The idea that any man should be qualified for his work struck me as being ludicrously preposterous. In Britain, we all know, a man is expected to have some claims to capability for his occupation—but here, of course, we are much in advance of old stick-in-the-mud Britain.

The writer of the above quotation is surprised that a schoolmaster or an ex-land officer may become Registrar of Companies.

But, pray, why not, when a soldier can become a schoolmaster or an Inspector of Mines be made Director of Education?

At Home when the Government pays out money it usually takes care to find where that money goes. But this is old fashioned and silly! Here the Government may make a gift of $10,000 to a school as grant and then look the other way when the money is being divided. If a few thousands find their way into pockets that were never meant to receive them, again, why trouble? It's the ratepayer's money, not ours.

I was brought up to regard efficiency as a virtue but, since coming here, I have given up that idea for good, and am residing in this Colony merely to enjoy the genial, maskee atmosphere of topsy-turvydom.

Personally I am by profession a stainer of glass windows, but just now I am wondering whether I shall accept the offer of a post as Mining Engineer in the New Territory.

Mr. Stevier, in his defence, handed in particulars giving the names of horses, including Lomond, which were alleged to have been sent to the post improperly trained.

Mr. Wootton applied to Mr. Justice Bailhache for Mr. Stevier to disclose names of bookmakers and amounts of alleged bets, in addition to the names of horses, but Mr. Justice Bailhache refused to make an order for further particulars.

Lord Justice Kennedy said plaintiff might be unfairly placed in the trial if he did not know the particulars of the alleged bets, with names, places, and times. If defendant had no such particulars, he had no justification.

The judgment of the Court was that Mr. Stevier should deliver particulars specifying, where possible, name or names of person or persons, and times and places where the alleged bets took place, within 14 days.

NORTH BORNEO.

We stated last week that Sir West Ridgeway and General Sir Alfred Turner had arrived in London after their somewhat lengthy tour through the East. From a wire received from Home this morning it will be seen that Sir West Ridgeway has been telling the shareholders in the British North Borneo Company that the prospects of their territory are excellent, that the revenue is increasing by leaps, and that arrangements are being made for the immigration of a considerable number of Northern Chinese. With all this most of our readers are already familiar, for it will be remembered that the "Telegraph" published a long interview with Sir Alfred Turner when he was in Hongkong last March. The remainder of the wire concerns the prospects of the Borneo rubber industry and the re-construction of the West Coast railway. All of this is matter which very closely touches the interests of Hongkong business men; for, apart from the fact that the China Borneo Company, which has done so much valuable pioneer work in the Chartered Company's territory, was begun with Hongkong capital, every increase in Borneo import and export trade must necessarily affect the business of this port to some degree. (And apropos of the import trade we would like to remark, in passing, that it is regrettable that though this is a British colony and Borneo a Protectorate only one British boat—Messrs. Jardine Matheson's Maunsang—trades between here and the Borneo coast, while Singapore has no boat at all trading there; all other craft concerned in the trade being German.)

Allowing a certain margin for the super-enthusiasm that so often follows on a long period of lethargy and neglect such as fell to the lot of the British North Borneo Company until Sir West Ridgeway became chairman of Directors, one is bound to admit that the prospects of our Southern neighbour are brighter than they ever were before. Local business men who are interested in rubber will probably accept the chairman's picture of the future of that industry with a certain amount of reserve, for, as we have shown in the past, one country can never hope to gain anything like a monopoly in rubber; and while Borneo is endeavouring to catch up with the F.M.S., and while the South American rubber countries are bestirring themselves after their long and over-confident sleep, Ceylon and West Africa are pushing along serenely, their trade unimpaired by the rise of new rubber-producing countries; and meanwhile the synthetic product is becoming more and more threatening as a rival to all. The innovation of the West Coast railway will affect Singapore rather than Hongkong; but when, if ever, a cross-country railway, or even a trunk road, is made from Jesselton to Sandakan, Hongkong must at once be benefited thereby. At present there is not a trunk road in the whole country, and but for the moderately profitable produce brought down to the coast by natives, we should be justified in calling the whole country merely a strip of coast-line, and in ignoring the interior altogether.

Those of our readers who have studied the matter will doubtless agree at present with Sir West Ridgeway's laying so much stress on the immigration question. The country is, before all things, one that demands to be developed from without, for the natives knew nothing whatever of enterprise and are well satisfied to live from hand to mouth and to leave to-morrow to take care of itself. It is spite of the attitude of California, Australia etc., we very strongly maintain that immigration by Asiatics is only dangerous where the local Government is weak. The Chinese population of Java and South Borneo is not inconsiderable; but the Dutch are in the habit of being masters in their own country, and immigration has, unless we are greatly mistaken, never injured them. Similarly so long as the Chartered Company in Borneo keeps the tightly controlling hand that it has become somewhat renowned for, Chinese immigration can produce nothing but good. There is, however, one aspect of the position which it is not well to lose sight of. Since the abuses and mal-administration by the Company (a mal-administration that forced so able and conscientious a Governor as Sir Hugh Clifford to resign rather than allow his name to be associated with it) have been ended by the establishment of a new regime, the country has obtained what amounts to practically a new lease of independent life. Even as recently as two years ago it was thought that the Imperial Government would take control of the country and place it under the High Commissioner of the Straits Settlements. A thorough overhauling of the Government service and the framing of new regulations for the observance of planters have been instrumental in doing away with this likelihood; but only for the time being. Quite a few years must see the country converted into a British colony; and then, if the policy followed therein be anything like that of Hongkong or (in recent times) of South Africa, the Europeans of the country may have cause to regret the present anxiety to make the way of the immigrant entirely smooth.

Moonlight Bathing.

The number of people present at North Point last night, on the occasion of the first moonlight bathing function, furnished the clearest of all proofs that not only is the new scheme of the Tramway Company meeting a strong public need but that there is, as we have always maintained, an equal demand for agreeable and healthful entertainment in the evening. Though there are bathing facilities for only about a hundred and fifty people, there must have been six or seven times that number present last night, and it was clear that any number of them had been attracted simply by the prospect of a run on the car and an hour spent in the open air listening to the band. A string band, especially in the open where sound does not carry far, is not the brightest form of entertainment, but it is so much better than nothing that it attracted a big number of people last night. The new venture was a bigger success than its promoters perhaps anticipated.

The Second Revolution.

The expected has happened, and China appears once more to be on the eve of a terrible internal upheaval. The special telegrams which the "Telegraph" has recently been receiving from Shanghai have prepared us for the worst; the one published on Monday making it quite clear that the second Revolutionary movement had begun. It is a sorry development, and one which bids fair to shake the new regime to its foundations. The trouble has arisen from the old hostility between North and South, the incompatibility of the two factions to pull together for the common weal. A terrible responsibility rests upon those who have fomented this bitter strife, for it may be that the present conflict will spell ruin to the country as a whole, and may lead to outside intervention. The present developments in the North at any rate point to the common sense of those nations who, knowing China and the Chinese, have hesitated to recognise the new Republic.

ARREST OF ENGLISHMEN IN BOSNIA.

The "News Wiener Tayblatt" (Vienna) published recently a telegram from Sarajevo stating that a domiciliary perquisition had been made in the rooms of Mr. Macfarren, Secretary of the British Consulate at Sarajevo. The official and his friend, the philologist Johnston, added the telegram, "were arrested, but soon released. The inquiry is proceeding."

Inquiry at the Bosnian Bureau in Vienna was answered by the statements that nothing whatever is known of the affair, that it concerns the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Office, and that, in any case, if Englishmen have been arrested, there will have been a reason for it. Inquiry in a non-Englishmen quarter at Sarajevo has brought out the following more ample, though possibly not exhaustive, information. "On Sunday afternoon, towards 5 p.m., Mr. Charles John Hope Johnston, a painter from London, was walking with Mr. Macfarren, titular Secretary of the British Consulate, towards Ilidze. On the way they met a number of gipsies, in whose language Mr. Johnston took interest. Suddenly some soldiers appeared, arrested the two Englishmen, and conducted them to the nearest police station, where they were detained till 9 p.m. They were then taken under escort to Mr. Johnston's lodgings, which were searched—without result. Afterwards, towards 11 p.m., a military commission proceeded with Mr. Macfarren to his lodgings, which were also searched, without other result than the seizure of a small notebook in Mr. Macfarren's pocket. The nocturnal adventure ended towards 4 a.m. at the central police office, where Mr. Johnston was stripped naked and remorselessly searched—without result.

If this description of the affair is even approximately accurate, it is to be hoped that the proper diplomatic steps will be taken without delay. The "Times."

"When these men (coolies) are asked where they work, they invariably say the Naval Dock Yard, because thousands of them are employed there," said Mr. Hrzland, at the Police Court, this morning, when trying a man from Wanchai on a charge of being a rogue and a vagabond. The case was remanded until to-morrow.

Opium Divan. At the Police Court, this morning, Inspector McHardy, charged six men with being concerned in an opium divan in Nullah Lane, Wanchai. The first defendant he further charged with being the "keeper." After hearing the evidence, Mr. Hazeland fined the keeper $250, or in default three months, and the other defendants $3 each or in default seven days.

ARRESTED FOR DEBT.

Sequel to a 1908 Action.

Mr. William Henry Gaskell, of Kowloon, was arrested yesterday evening, outside the Hongkong Club at about 6.15 p.m. as a debtor. The matter arises out of a case for back as 1908, in which A.F. Aoulli was plaintiff, and Gaskell defendant.

The order under which Mr. Gaskell was arrested provided that, unless he was in possession of property or could point to property which could be levied upon, he was to be banded over to the Superintendent of the Victoria Gaol, to be imprisoned as a debtor for one year, or until his discharge in accordance with the law.

Mr. George Wyndham visited Cecil Rhodes at his Cape residence, Groote Schuur, and told Sir Henry Lucy this incident. One morning, Rhodes, who had shown himself at breakfast in a mood of solemn thought, went out and lay full length near the edge of the hill, gazing on the scene below. He remained there half an hour, and came back in brighter spirits. From a chance remark he dropped, Mr. Wyndham believes that it was in this reverie he conceived the idea of having his grave dug amid the silence and solitude of the mountain tops.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE.

Farewell Dinner to Rev. Bro. Christian.

Last night a most enjoyable function took place in the hall of the St. Joseph's College to wish Rev. Bro. Christian, Director for the last five years, a hearty farewell on the occasion of his retiring to New York. A splendid dinner was given by the pupils, and His Lordship Bishop Pozzoni took the chair. Rev. Fathers Maria and Garbardi were also present and the band of the Punjab rendered selections during the course of the dinner.

After the dinner Master I. Braga, toasted His Lordship the Bishop, saying they felt sure he would not fail to join them in wishing "God Speed" to their chief from whom they took leave with hearts full of gratitude and sorrow. He spoke not for himself alone, but for every one of his schoolmates when he offered his Lordship their assurance of deep affection and loyal obedience.

His Lordship, in replying, said in the words that had fallen from the boy whom the scholars had asked to speak in their behalf, he would trace that sentiment of obedience, loyalty and devotion to duty which he was happy to think their assiduous school teachers had, to successfully, by example and precept, inculcated in them. It was not enough that all students of the College should acquire proficiency in literature, history or mathematics; what was far more important was that moral and aesthetic education, which he was convinced had been imparted to them hand in hand with their daily school curriculum. Referring to Brother Christian's departure, his Lordship said no one was in a better position than he to speak of the painstaking effort and untiring devotion which Brother Christian bestowed upon their spiritual and material welfare. In those efforts he had been ably seconded by a staff of teachers who had raised the name of St. Joseph's English College to a position among leading educational institutions in Hongkong. When they saw round them the achievements of the College during Brother Christian's directorship, he would have cause to carry away with him the liveliest recollections of his sojourn amongst them in Hongkong.

The addition to the College building, the laying out of the magnificent play ground, the increase in the enrolment, and signal successes in the Oxford Examinations, were all achievements which stood to the credit of Bro. Christian and the individual and united efforts of all his teachers, with whom he (his Lordship) was to be associated in the promotion of Catholic education in Hongkong.

On this subject he could speak with authority, and he would instance the institution by Bro. Christian of the Apostleship of Study, with all the duties which its membership implied, among the Catholic boys in and out of the College, not the least of which was the regular and frequent Communion. Concluding, the Bishop remarked:—"Now, Bro. Director, it remains for me to comply with the wish of your boys, and that is to wish you 'bon voyage,' a safe arrival at home, accompanied by the blessings of God during your retirement, after the excellent work which, as a dutiful member of the brotherhood of St. Jean Baptiste de la Salle, you are such a noble exponent."

Master A. Saqueira toasted the Rev. Bro. Director in an appropriate speech. Bro. Christian, in reply, thanked the Bishop for his complimentary words; but if he (the speaker) had done a little, no doubt he could have done more. The splendid staff of Brothers had greatly lightened his work. The dampness of the climate had forced him to go to the other side of the world, but when he would be built up, perhaps some young men could encourage him to return (cheers). Certainly the beautiful banquet given by the students bore evident proof of the love "Alma Mater."

All present knew of the St. Joseph's College in Shanghai. Over 80 members (cheers). The Association offered prizes to encourage the present pupils. They had offered gold medals and scholarships Mr. C. E. de Lopes Ozoris, of the International Banking Corporation, was Secretary, and Mr. White, President. Many of the old boys of the 70's, he said, were in Shanghai. As he would be going north soon, he would see Mr. White, and tell him that the present boys were as good as those of the past, and that the boys of the present time, stuck up for their "Alma Mater" as much as those of days past.

He told the boys to have right aspirations for the future. He knew of many who worked for an increase in their wages, only. The right spirit, was the only one that could do honour to the "Alma Mater," and that spirit would be to work for the benefit of the employer, for that was the only honourable way to get a higher salary. He wished the boys of St. Joseph's College to be always trustworthy and reliable (loud cheers). In conclusion, he thanked his Lordship Bishop Pozzoni, the Rev. Fathers, and his energetic staff and said that if the Lord ordained it they might all meet again—loud cheers.

Master O. Musso proposed the toast of the "Alma Mater," and Master F. Banje that of the Pupils of the school. Mr. W. Ezra called for cheers for His Lordship Bishop Pozzoni, "Our Beloved Brother Director," the Rev. Brothers and St. Joseph's College, and these were heartily given.

MOTOR CAR COLLISION.

Sequel in the Law Courts.

This morning in the Summary Court, before the Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice Kemp, Mr. E. Lauritsen, of 63, Des Vaux Road, sued the Exile Garage, also of Des Vaux Road, claiming to recover the sum of $309, alleged to be damages caused to his motor car No. 27, by reason of the negligent driving of car No. 9, by the defendants' servant. The defendants brought a counter-action for $555 for damage done to their car.

Mr. Denny, Junr., of Messrs. Denny, and Bowley, appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. J. H. Gardiner for the defence.

Mr. Denny informed his Lordship that on June 22 the plaintiff's car was hired by six Chinese ladies to go to Aberdeen, between 6 and 6.30 p.m. As they were going down the Aberdeen road, near the pump house, and were turning the corner the defendant's car No. 9 came round the bend at a much faster rate of speed than it should have been going—as it was a very dangerous road—and a collision occurred. The ladies were severely shaken and the car badly damaged.

To make the defendant liable, it must be shown that the driver was acting in the ordinary course of his employment, and certain facts were admitted. At the time of collision, the plaintiff's car was heavily loaded and was going slowly on second speed. It was near the bend on the left side of the road, and if his Lordship found that this was a fact, it was absolutely impossible for the driver to be in fault, as he was on the left side of the road. There was plenty of room for the driver of the other car to have passed, because, in fact, another car did pass after the collision.

Mr. Denny put in four photographs showing the part of the road where the collision took place, and the vicinity. He thought that the defendant's driver must have come round the "hair-pin" bend just before the right-angle bend, too fast to take his proper side of the road, and perhaps, in his panic, he turned his wheel the wrong way. After the collision and before the cars were moved, both the drivers went for the police and Inspector Sym went to the spot.

DEATH PREFERRED.

A Chinese arrested for stealing Government gas burners was sent with detectives to find some of his confederates. He was handcuffed and appeared in custody. On nearing the water, however, he jumped in and was drowned, evidently having become embedded in the mud. His body was picked up in the Harbour yesterday, and taken to the mortuary.

BATHING BY MOONLIGHT.

Scheme Initiated Last Night. A Huge Success.

The moonlight bathing organised by the Tramway Company at North Point, last evening, was phenomenally successful. Being the first public function of its kind, and following so soon after the installation of bathing tents on the shore at this spot, the result of this novel venture for Hongkong was watched with interest by many who have followed the bathing question. The number of people present was a complete surprise. From eight o'clock onward the cars going east carried scores whose destination was North Point, and ten minutes before the time of the commencement of the band programme there were quite one hundred and fifty people strolling along the beach or leaning against the parapet listening to the music supplied by the instrumentalists from the s.s. Siberia. The band attended by kind permission of Capt. Zeeder, and the musicians, recognising the early attendance, gave a few preliminary selections.

Shortly after nine o'clock a regular influx of visitors commenced. Car after car, loaded with full complements arrived, and, discharging their occupants, speeded back for more, until at 10 p.m. an estimated attendance of 1,000 people would not be erring on the generous side. Tents were in brisk demand, every one being occupied, the water proving a great attraction throughout the evening.

White bathers were there in full force, a noteworthy feature of the event, was the number of residents who came down with no intention of bathing, the music being the attraction. In groups these non-swimmers sat out on the beach, chatting and laughing, listening to the tuneful strains of the Siberia's excellent band, which gave piece after piece with very slight intervals. In fact, the whole scene reminded one of the many quiet seaside resorts along the north coast of France and Belgium, whose names are often forgotten in the glories of Ostend. It was when one attempted to stroll in and out among the groups of visitors that the size of the crowd was appreciated. Not only was the beach filled, but the wall along to the road above was lined with lookers on for a distance of 100 to 150 yards.

The moon was the only part of the programme that did not come up to expectations; the lack of light from this quarter detracted somewhat from the beauty of the scene. However, the powerful lights on the road did much to adjust matters. In this connection we understand that arrangements are to be made to illuminate the beach on a scale which will render such functions independent of the vagaries of the moon in future, and further tend to the enjoyment of visitors, of whom the British element was on this occasion decidedly in the majority. Creature comforts were attended to by Messrs. Weissmann Ltd., at whose tent ice cream, pastries and "soft" drinks could be obtained at their usual reasonable rates.

The Tramway Company, Mr. Stoddart Kennedy and Mr. Courtes, who had charge of the traffic arrangements, are to be congratulated on the success of their innovation, and on the despatch with which the large attendance was handled, both coming and going, and if further attractions, which are at present in anticipation, fructify, moonlight bathing should prove one of the most popular social fixtures of Hongkong summer evenings, as we predicted it might well be.

VOLUNTEER ORDERS.

Joined.—Gr. E. E. Griave joined the Corps on the 10th inst., allotted Corps No. 1437 and posted to Howitzer Section.

Leave.—Pte. E. Newhouse is granted leave of absence for 1 month with effect from 12.8.13.

SPECIAL CABLES.

THE SECOND REVOLUTION BEGINS.

SPREAD OF THE REBELLIOUS MOVEMENT.

"President Yuan Must be Killed"; Protection of Foreigners Promised.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, July 17.

Kuomintang reports state that Kiangsu and Hunan Provinces, as well as Manchuria, have declared independence and have joined up with Kiangai Province.

It is reported by Reuter's correspondent at Nanking that General Huang Hsing has been chosen Commander-in-Chief of the Army which is to attack President Yuan Shih-kai.

The War Council has decided to invite Tsien Chun-hsuan, formerly of Canton, to become Generalissimo.

Two Nanking Generals loyal to President Yuan are reported to have been shot.

The Kiangai troops have crossed to Pukow from Nanking.

Traffic on the Tientsin-Pukow Railway has been suspended.

Towns on the Yangtze are joining in the movement.

The Kuomintang party claims that the Kiangai troops have defeated the Northerners, who a commander is alleged to have fled.

Plans have been made to attack the rebels here, but heavy rain fell and the attack had not matured up to midnight.

President Yuan Shih-kai has ordered the advance along the Yangtze of the Navy to co-operate with the Army.

A manifesto issued in Kiangai says that President Yuan Shih-kai must be killed.

The Government is censoring telegrams, which are delayed.

Fighting is taking place on the Tientsin-Pukow Railway, and the line is cut.

Rebel proclamations promise to protect foreigners.

[Reuter's Service To The "Telegraph"]

London, Received July 18.

Reuter's correspondent at Shanghai states that there has been serious fighting between the Northern and Southern troops in Kiangai. It is feared that this may be the beginning of a second Revolution.

The situation is complicated by the new demands of Russia with reference to Mongolia.

[The above information was contained in a special cable from our Shanghai correspondent on Tuesday.]

London, Received July 17.

Reuter's correspondent at Peking states that fighting continues at Kiangai, the Northerners occupying the principal points in the Province.

The Southern Provinces are preparing to declare independence.

The attitude of the Japanese is bitterly commented upon. They are blamed for stirring up strife.

It is affirmed that Japanese officers are helping the rebels, and the Southerners of only declare that they have the support of the Japanese.

Later.

Reuter's correspondent at Shanghai states that the revolt in the Yangtze district is spreading, and revolutionary proclamations are being circulated broadcast in Shanghai, Nanchang and Nanking, denouncing President Yuan Shih-kai.

Fighting is proceeding along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway.

Business at Shanghai is at a standstill.

(From Chinese Sources.)

NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY.

Peking, July 16.

The situation at Kiangai is not taken seriously here. It is believed that the outbreak will be quelled within a few days.

Telegrams from Hupeh report the discovery of a large quantity of arms and ammunition in the Chekiang Club.

Japanese Complicity Deplored.

Peking, July 16.

The provinces north of the Yangtze and Manchuria are quiet. The foreign and Chinese press alike deplore the Japanese complicity in the Kiangai outbreak.

The Northern troops have been victorious at Shaho, but the report that the Pakow railway station has been occupied is unfounded. It is estimated that 30,000 troops will be in Kiangai in two days.

The Huanses are strongly protesting against a Japanese company lending $20,000 to the rebels.

SOUTHERN TROOPS DEFEATED.

Shanghai, July 17.

The Northern Army, under the command of Chang Shenn, engaged the Southern troops on the 16th and defeated them. President Yuan has ordered Tun Che Kwai to accept the post of commander-in-chief of the troops for the South and to bring the first division from the North to Kiangai. He has also ordered Li King Hong to bring the second division and two batteries of artillery to the assistance of Tun Che Kwai.

The reason why the Mongolian Treaty cannot be passed through the two houses is that those members who are in favour of the Southern party are preventing the Government from sending troops to the South. Most of the reports from Shanghai are mere rumours invented by scoundrels in order to make it appear that the Southern troops are stronger than is really the case.

THE MONGOLIAN OUTRAGE.

HOW MR GRANT MET HIS DEATH.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, July 17.

Mr Henningsen, of the Chinese Telegraphs, and party, have returned to Peking after their search for Mr Grant, also of the Chinese Telegraphs.

They report that Mr Grant died a heroic death, defying his captors up to the firing of a volley by twenty Mongols.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

A meeting of the Legislative Council was held on Thursday, in the Council Chamber.

There were present, H. E. the Governor, Sir Francis Henry May K.C.M.G.

H. E. Major-General Anderson, The Hon. Colonial Secretary, Mr. A. M. Thomson.

The Hon. Mr. M. Ede.

The Hon. Mr. E. Shellim.

The Hon. Mr. D. Landale.

Mr. C. Clementi, Clerk to the Councils.

Wireless Telegraphy.

The Hon. Attorney General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled An Ordinance to provide for the regulation of Wireless Telegraphy.

The Hon. Colonial Secretary seconded, and the Bill was read a first time.

This Bill is introduced on instructions from and on a model approved by the Secretary of State. It repeals the three existing enactments relative to Wireless Telegraphy and re-enacts them with modifications and in a more comprehensive form.

Section 1 of the Bill is formal. Section 2 gives the standard definitions of "Telegraph" and "Wireless Telegraphy."

By Sections 3 and 4 the Governor is given power to grant licences for the establishment of Wireless Installations in the Colony or on board a British ship registered in the Colony and except under such licences Wireless Installations are prohibited.

Section 5 prescribes the penalty for the unlawful establishment of Installations or the working of any apparatus for Wireless Telegraphy without a licence and gives power to the proper authorities to search unlicensed premises or places and to seize any apparatus, found on any such unlicensed premises or places, which appears to be used or intended to be used for Wireless Telegraphy.

Under Section 6 the Governor-in-Council is given power to make regulations, prescribing the form and method of application for licences; the fees payable on the grant thereof; for regulating the working in the waters of the Colony of Wireless Telegraphy on board Merchant ships as to prevent the interference by such working with the Naval signalling or with the working of any lawfully established local Installation or with the transmission of Wireless messages between local stations and ships at sea; for prohibiting the working or using of Wireless Telegraphy on board a Merchant ship whilst such ship is in the harbours of the Colony except under special or general permission and for prohibiting or regulating, in any exceptional emergency in which in the interests of the public service it is necessary that His Majesty's Government should assume complete control over the transmission of messages, and use of Wireless Telegraphy on board Merchant ships in the waters of the Colony. To the section is added a proviso that the limiting or prohibitory regulations shall not apply to distress signals.

Under Section 7 special licences may be granted for experimental purposes.

Section 8 provides penalties for contravention of the provisions of the Ordinance or of any regulation made thereunder or for breach of any conditions or restrictions upon which a licence has been granted.

Section 9 repeals the existing enactments.

effect to the change in the name and style of the office heretofore known as that of the Registrar General.

The Hon. Colonial Secretary recorded and the Bill was read a first time.

The objects and reasons stated:—It has been thought desirable to effect a change in the name of the office known as the "Registrar General" which is in fact responsible for Chinese affairs and to designate the office by the more appropriate title of "Secretary for Chinese Affairs."

Legal Practitioners' Ordinance.

The Hon. Attorney General moved the first reading of a Bill entitled an ordinance to amend the Legal Practitioners' Ordinance.

The Hon. Colonial Secretary recorded, was read a first time.

The object of this Bill is to introduce some all but desirable amendments into conditions which govern the admission of solicitors to practice in the Courts of the Colony. In particular it gives in this connection recognition to the Hongkong Law Society which was incorporated in 1907 and which represents the solicitors' profession in the Colony.

Section 1 of the Bill is formal. Section 2 indicates what body is referred to under the name of the Hongkong Law Society.

Section 3 indicates precisely the degree of education necessary to enable a candidate, for admission under articles of clerkship, to dispense with the requisite preliminary examination.

Section 4 provides that one at least of the examinees appointed to conduct examinations under the provisions of the Ordinance shall be a solicitor practising in the Colony. Section 5 provides that notice of a candidate's intention to apply for admission as a solicitor shall be given to the Secretary of the Hongkong Law Society.

Section 6 repeals section 22 of the Principal Ordinance (No. 1 of 1877) by a new section. It will be observed that the alterations do not apply to barristers at all. Under the provisions of the new section 22, a solicitor must give for the previous notice of his intention to apply for local admission to the Registrar of the Court and to the Secretary of the Hongkong Law Society; and must deposit with the Registrar his certificate of admission, a second certificate that such certificate of admission is still in force and valid and a third certificate of good character; he must also file an affidavit of his personal identity. Of these requirements the certificate of admission is still valid and the certificates of character are new but they are the same as those requirements which are demanded when application is made for admission in Great Britain.

A proviso is added to this section that on special grounds the Chief Justice may grant exemption from compliance with any of these requirements.

Section 7 gives a right of audience, subject to the approval of the Court, to the Hongkong Law Society on the basis of any application for admission by a solicitor or for exemption from compliance with the formalities prescribed under section 22 or for striking the name of any solicitor off the rolls.

The New Territories.

The Hon. Attorney General moved the second reading of the Bill entitled An Ordinance to amend the New Territories Regulation Ordinance, 1910.

Protection from Pirates. The Hon. Attorney General moved the second reading of the bill entitled an ordinance to extend the provisions to the Steam Launch (Protection against Piracy) Ordinance, 1900, to certain classes of steamers.

Hongkong Schools. The Hon. Attorney General moved the second reading of the bill entitled an ordinance to provide for the registration and supervision of certain schools.

Companies Ordinance. The Hon. Attorney General moved the second reading of the bill entitled an ordinance to amend the Companies Ordinance, 1911.

LOG BOOK.

Captain Dollar on the Panama Tolls.

Congress decrees that: "Tolls may be based upon gross or net registered tonnage, displacement tonnage or otherwise" writes Captain Robert Dollar in the "Weekly Commercial News." "Now the tolls have been fixed at $1.20 on merchant vessels while carrying cargo, but it never has been made public what measurement will be used, so shipowners are in ignorance as to how much it will cost to get a certain vessel through the canal. To give a concrete example of the various measurements on the same vessel take the steamer Bessie Dollar:

COMMERCIAL.

Home Commercial and Produce Markets.

June 13.

The Bank rate remains unchanged at 4½ per cent. The Open market rate for short loans is 3½ to 3¾ per cent., and discount of four months' Bank bills 3.7-18 to 3½ per cent. The Silver market has been weaker inclined, and business has been on an unusually small scale; bars are now quoted 27.5-16d. per oz. Rubber shares show a further shrinkage, but this is not surprising in view of the demoralised condition of markets throughout the Stock Exchange. The Messageries Maritimes are issuing 60,000 bonds of 500 francs each at the price of 475 francs and bearing an annual interest of 25 francs. The Malay Motor-Bus Company has been registered with a capital of £100,000 in 995,000 part preference shares of 2s. and 200,000 deferred shares of 6d. At the meeting of the Shantung Railway Company in Berlin the dividend was fixed at 7½ per cent. Meetings have been held of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Co. and Eastern Telegraph Co., at which the resolutions recently passed adopting new regulations were confirmed. The annual meeting of the Bidor Rubber Estate has been held.

In China Tea is fair business is passing at steady rates. Coffee has met with slow demand, and prices generally ruled in favour of buyers. Sugar has ruled weak and lower. Both Singapore and White Pepper have been dull and easier. Rice remains quiet, but there is no change in prices. Manila Hemp, after firming, has receded, and closes at about same rates last week. Plantation Rubber has been dull and easier, and average sheet being quoted at about 3s. 0½d. per lb. Fine Hard Para is 3s. 0½d. per lb. Straits Tin is 2208 10s. for both cash and three months.

Rubber Share Market.

Messrs. Zorn and Leigh-Hunt in their mid-weekly report on the rubber share market and list of quotations dated London June 11 say:—In view of the demoralised condition of markets throughout the Stock Exchange, it is not surprising that rubber shares show a further shrinkage. The net result is that many good-class "young producer" shares are now standing at such bargain prices that the argument which we put forward in our report of last Wednesday is more than ever emphasised. In reply to enquiries we have received as to what particular companies meet the conditions described last week, we may mention a dozen concerns which at 6d. to 1/0 per lb. profit would yield from 7½ up to 25 per cent. per annum when mature, if shares were bought at the prices now ruling. In practically every instance the maturity stage should be reached in between two and three years from the present time; and, of course, dividends are already being paid from the areas now being tapped. Of course, there are plenty of other companies in a similar position, but those mentioned above may be taken as representative of the class. A few of the companies are:—Alor Pongas are 1½, and Anglo-Ceylon 3 bid. Anglo-Javas are wanted at 4/8; 3 is bid for Bata Tigas, and 1.18 for Bradvalls. Bukit Kajanga have been taken at 44/3—Bukit Mertajams are firm at 2/1½ buyers. A few Castlefields offer around 5.1-8. Daman was offered at 3.15-16. There is a seller of F.M.S. around 24. Java Amalgamated are bid for at 24/8, and Jura Lands at 34/0. Kapars have been pressed for sale down of 6. Kapitigals can be sold at 18/0. Lee Convent has sold Kuala, and the quotation is down ½. Kuala Selangors offer at 18/3. Malayalams have been taken around 30/6, and the price is now bid. P.P.K.'s are wanted at 1.3-1.6, and Patallings at 1.7-1.6. Sampahs are obtainable at 1.1-1.8, and Sheldons are 1½ bid. Soregi Kapars are a firm spot, and shares are taken whenever offered at 8/9. A few Sungai Obhohs are wanted at 3½. Tanjong Malins offer at 4/11, and Tebrau around 49/8. United Serdangs have fallen to 9/1½, and United Sumatras to 5/1½.

Philippine Sugar.

The largest amount of sugar in the history of the Philippines since the American occupation was exported during the fiscal year 1912, the value of the sugar exported shows a marked decrease, being P1,818,070 less than in 1912. In fact the average price per ton for the sugar exported during fiscal year 1913, which was P38.90, is the lowest on record since 1909.

SERVICE MATTERS.

General de Barry.

General G. F. de Barry, who has just attained his 80th birthday, is a veteran of the Twenty-fourth Regiment (South Wales Borderers) which he joined nearly 70 years ago. He served with the Twenty-fourth in the Punjab War of 1848, including the action of Salolapore Chillianwallah—where the regiment was terribly cut up—and Goograt, for which he received the medal with two clasps. He subsequently took part in the Indian Mutiny and rendered eminent services in that campaign.

Lt. Col. Leach.

The command of the 1st Battalion South Wales Borderers has gone to Major H. E. B. Leach, the senior major, latterly serving as second in command. Lieutenant-Colonel Leach joined the South Wales Borderers as recently as July, 1908, when he was transferred from the Northumberland Fusiliers with a view to his promotion to the command when Lieutenant-Colonel Graham retired. He joined the "Fighting Fifth" in May, 1881, and reached field rank in August, 1904. He served as a mounted infantry officer in the South African War, including the operations in the Transvaal (Queen's medal with five clasps), and from 1905 to 1908 was Assistant Military Secretary to the Commander-in-Chief at Gibraltar.

Australian Liner Fitted with Guns.

The Aberdeen liner Themistocles, which is on her way from London to Australia, has been fitted with two 4.7 guns in accordance with the Admiralty scheme for arming food-carrying steamers. The Themistocles is the first steamer to leave the Thames so equipped. She carries a large number of passengers from London and called at Plymouth to embark a Naval draft for the Commonwealth Navy. Both the New Zealand Shipping Company and the Federal Steam Navigation Company are falling in with the Admiralty scheme for the arming of food-carrying steamers. The New Zealand Company's liner Rotomua, of 11,000 tons, is now being prepared at the London docks for the carriage of two 4.7 guns, and the Federal Company's Wiltshire, of 10,000 tons, which is due to leave Liverpool this month for Australia, is being equipped.

Lt. Col. Graham.

Lieut. Colonel H. M. Graham, who has just completed four years at the head of the 1st Battalion South Wales Borderers, Chatham, was the last of the old "Twenty-Fourth" officers doing regimental service. He was posted to the Twenty-fourth Regiment in August, 1880, and had thus almost a year's service with it before it became the South Wales Borderers on July 1 following. As a subaltern he served with the Borderers in the Burmese Expedition, 1885-1886, for which he holds the medal with two clasps, was promoted captain in 1890, major in 1901, and on June 9, 1909, he was gazetted to the command of the 1st Battalion. His retirement is very much regretted, as he was a most popular commanding officer, and a link with the days when the regiment wore the Roman numeral of "XXIV."

The Australian Fleet. The transfer of the Dockyards at Cockatoo Island, Garden Island, Spectacle Island, and Admiralty House, by the New South Wales Government to the Federal authorities, is the first step, says "Town and Country," towards the complete replacement of Imperial Naval authority by the Commonwealth Naval authorities in Australian waters. The transaction was to be completed on July 1, when the Imperial authorities formally hand over control of Garden Island to the Commonwealth, and the few Imperial ships still left in our waters will take their departure. Australia long ago decided to build and maintain a navy of her own, and the taking over of the docks and naval yards forms a part of that policy. As these properties technically belonged to this State, it was only right that the Commonwealth should pay for them, and it is satisfactory to know that the price, which amounted to nearly a million and a half, was agreed upon without any haggling or dispute. With the arrival of H.M.A.S. Australia and Rear-Admiral Patey from England, the Australian fleet will take its place as a small unit in the defensive forces of the Empire.

DEFRAUDING THE RAILWAY.

A Habit, which is becoming too common.

"I understand this is a regular practice, and I intend to inflict the maximum penalty, which is $20, or one month's hard labour," observed Mr. Hazeland, this morning, after hearing the evidence in a case where a man was charged with defrauding the Kowloon-Canton Railway Co.

It appeared from the evidence that the defendant booked from Taipo market to Yaumati, and travelled on to Kowloon. It was stated, too, that on the early morning train to Hongkong the practice of travelling beyond the distance booked was becoming a very common one. When the defendant was asked for his ticket, he said it had been taken at Yaumati, which would have been the case under ordinary circumstances.
